

Congress of Neurological Surgeons

Dear Auxiliary Member:

The Congress of Neurological Surgeons is holding its 28th Annual Meeting in the "historic hub" of our country — beautiful Washington, D.C.

We have arranged a selection of tours including popular as well as usually inaccessible points of interest in this historic city. A tour to Hillwood Estate will include a visit with Senator and Mrs. Proxmire in their lovely home. This will be available on a first come first serve basis, to small groups, several times during the week. Another tour, Georgetown Homes and Gardens, will visit the charming row houses with a stop at famous Prospect House. The Capital Potpourri tour will view an outstanding collection of Americana at the State Department, then stop at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts followed by lunch at the Foundry, a charming restaurant in Georgetown. How about an elegant evening at the Kennedy Center for a performance at one of the theatres with dinner at the rooftop restaurant there? Finally, a Capital Hill tour will visit the Capital, Supreme Court, Library of Congress, with a luncheon at the Capital Hill Club and visit to the new addition of the National Gallery of Art. We are excited by the prospects of this week in Washington.

Please indicate a first and second choice of tours in the pre-registration material which was sent to your husband. Should you show only a first choice, your money will be refunded if that particular tour is filled. "No shows" will not receive a refund.

Equally stimulating will be our fourth annual ladies' scientific session which will present "Recent Advances in Microneurosurgery" by featured speakers Drs. Edward Laws and Edward Downing. We will follow this with our Annual Luncheon and Business Meeting.

The Annual Banquet will feature entertainment by the Marine Band and the Young Columbians, followed by dancing.

Temperatures range from 50 to 75 degrees with a few days of rain in the month, so come prepared. The Hilton Beauty Salon will be reserved for Congress wives but do make appointments early in the week to avoid disappointments.

See you in September.

Sincerely,

Joyce Rhoton
President, Congress of Neurological Surgeons Auxiliary
